You Might Be the Next Curious Science Writers Fellow

Curious Science Writers (CSW) is the only nation-wide, high school level, extracurricular science writing program that trains curious and creative students to bring complex science to the general public through the power of story and art.

The four-week fellowship features:

- Creating lesson plans, activities and materials
- Facilitating a week-long virtual boot camp
- Follow up with students to ensure their success

Ideal candidates are certified high school teachers who want to contribute to the mission of Curious Science Writers
